WONDERFUL

Largest Orders Ever Made by a Retail House in Paducah.

Three Hundred Dinner Sets in Transit to Eliza Grant Demand.

When Paducah's new china store, The Arcade, opened up just three months ago, its success was questioned, fearing that they had introduced into our town a finer line of china and glassware than the trade of this city demanded. But a reporter strolling through this elegant store found their stock was just that which was needed, for it was plainly visible the finer goods had been sought after judging from the broken stock shown. True, they have the cheap goods, but this stock was complete and in getting the prices on different lines he reporter found that the good goods were selling on a fraction higher than the cheap lines which the city has had thrust upon them.

In going through their warehouse it was found that their stock was being replenished and new things added which will delight the housekeeper, and inside of a month their Christmas stock will be arriving, several importation orders being now on the road.

In talking with Mr. Lane the reporter was surprised to learn that he had placed with three different large factories, orders amounting to over three hundred dinner sets, to be shipped out in the next month. These sets are to be given away at a cost of only 25 cents, the plan having already been explained in nearly every home throughout the city and country.

We congratulate this new store on its wonderful success in the first three months of its business career.

The Arcade shipped fifty dinner sets this week to different parts of the state. Fifty more will arrive Monday and one hundred the following week.

Geopel meeting at the Union Rescue Mission, 431 South Third street, every night this summer at 7:30. There will be preaching now Little's spoke factory in grove at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, September 10. All are invited to take part in these services. R. W. Chiles, Superintendent.

WORKED A SURPRISE.

Insurgents Attempt to Take Three Towns Held by Americans.

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 9.—The insurgents in the north spring a surprise this morning by making simultaneous attacks on Santa Rita, Cebu and San Miguel, all of which places are held by Americans. The rebels used artillery, but were easily repulsed. Two insurgent officers and six privates captured.

NOT SO WARLIKE.

England and the Transvaal May Yet Kiss and Make Up.

JOHANNESBURG, Transvaal, Sept. 9.—The Volksraad has resolved not to send their rifles to the frontiers. The Boers were already engaged in the work but they would without orders. Further feeling prevails. The opinion is growing that a dash of arms will be avoided.

ALMOST CHOKED.

Charles, the 6-year-old son of Mr. George Griggs, engineer at Kilgore's, came near choking to death yesterday afternoon. He was found playing with some boys and was speechless. Dr. Coyle was summoned, and after a time succeeded in dislodging a large chunk of watermelon which had stuck in his throat. The boy is now out of danger but had a narrow escape.

"HE IS GUILTY!"

This Was the False Finding of the Dreyfus Court-Martial Returned Today.

5 AGAINST 2 FOR ACCUSED

Punishment Fixed at Ten Years in Fortress, Court is Weakened Verdict.

LATEST FROM SCENE OF TRIAL

The curtain on France's latest farce has again been rung down, the second Dreyfus court-martial is over. The finding of the court—guilty and a sentence of ten years in a fortress—is clearly a mockery of justice and only intended as a vindication to the unfortunate man's enemies. Either the accused should on first trial have been shot and shot, the crime being so grievous as that, or released because of the great doubt of his guilt. The second trial for lack of any evidence at all should have brought Dreyfus freedom, with attempted reputation for a great wrong done him, and arrest and punishment to the real offenders against the country's honor and dignity. "General" Dreyfus is found in the "general" gang, which has done and is doing so much to bring reproach upon France's name. The finger of the Christian world is today pointed in derision toward France and the fault to the Dreyfus farce, the conviction of the innocent and the escape from punishment of the guilty.

RENNES, France, Sept. 9.—The Dreyfus court-martial adjourned until 3 p. m. this afternoon. It is generally supposed a verdict will be announced at that hour. The entire session was devoted to the closing of the argument by counsel. Extraordinary precautions have been taken to prevent any disorder. Hosts of troops of gendarmes were early sent and the town closed with the tramp of marching men. The public was excluded from a space nearly a quarter mile from the Lycee. In each street approaching the court three barriers of troops of soldiers formed a cordon around the court house and were unassailed in the plaza in center of the town. In front of the post office were a hundred mounted gendarmes ready to call up to any point where trouble was threatened. A large number of the gendarmes and troops of the Lycee and the Lycee. Justice Emery also found a letter showing that Dreyfus had been employed by Sires Brothers, candy makers, at Orléans, and there was a ticket from Dawson to Orléans in his grip. He had been to Dawson, it seemed, for his health. He was an Italian, and the request is postponed until some of his friends or relatives are heard from. Justice Emery will go to Orléans and Orléans for advice.

ACCIDENTALLY DROWNED.

Fate of a Boy Who Went Swimming in a Gravel Pit.

Bomber, Hackett, colored, aged 12 years, was drowned in a hole in the gravel pit yesterday afternoon late while swimming. If any one was with him at the time, Justice Emery, who had the request, could not find him. Some one told the boy's father that he was drowned, and when the father was in the city for an undertaker, some one fished the boy out with a hook. The verdict of the jury was accidental death by drowning, and the remains were this morning buried from the family residence near Thirteenth and Third streets.

A GOOD SPEECH.

Was the One Made Here by Mr. W. C. Owens Last Evening.

A crowd of several hundred people gathered around the speech delivered here last evening by Mr. W. C. Owens. (wing) the eloquent weather-speaker, who arrived at the city hall and not yet the dark and the crowd was so great because of the weather and the place. But a great speech was made by this present and the speaker was fully satisfied with the people and his work. The sun came only to say that Mr. Owens is a fine speaker, perhaps the most entertaining one heard yet in the canvass, and all he said last night was said soundly, ably, with great calmness and effect, and that those who heard him were very favorably impressed with his manner and person. He is favorable to the thespians in long hope and so filled all with the wisdom of their conclusion in deciding not to vote for the Louisville ticket. Mr. Owens should be giving around the circle by the townships, for he is unquestionably about their best talker. His speech has been largely discussed today.

DIED AMONG STRANGERS.

Alexander Fabre Passes Away in Noble's Restaurant.

Alexander A. Fabre is the name of a man about 35 years of age, who died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at George Noble restaurant on Second street. He came here about a month ago, and had been employed about the restaurant. He became ill about two weeks ago, but not seriously.

Justice Emery held an inquest this morning. He examined the body effects, and found about two dollars in money, and some clothing. The value contained Tom Fabre's "Age of Reason," a family Bible and other things, all of which seemed to be kept with scrupulous neatness.

It was learned from one letter that he had been living at 215 Lombard street, Orléans, Ill., and that he has a cousin, Frank Fabre, of Orléans, Ill., in whose letter was enclosed a pass over the Mobile and Ohio from Orléans to Mobile, dated May 24. Beyond this nothing is known of the man.

Justice Emery also found a letter showing that Fabre had been employed by Sires Brothers, candy makers, at Orléans, and there was a ticket from Dawson to Orléans in his grip. He had been to Dawson, it seemed, for his health. He was an Italian, and the request is postponed until some of his friends or relatives are heard from. YELLOW FEVER.

Thirteen Cases Found in Mississippi City.

JACK BOLAN WON.

Jack Bolan won the twenty round contest with Jack Brodie at Fulton last night in the fifth round on a foul.

The fighting was spirited, but it was evident that Brodie is no match in cleverness for his adversary, and he fouled him and lost. Here when they fought Brodie pretended that he had a dislocated arm, and the fight was given to Bolan. They will fight again about the fifteenth at Memphis. Wood Jones and Ernest O'Connell, of the city, fought a preliminary, which was called a draw in the fourth.

It was reported that Bolan was knocked down, but this is contradicted, and it is said that he only fell to escape being struck. It is one of his favorite and most successful tactics.

It was lively and there was a large crowd. One man jumped up with a gun and got a little disorderly, but was promptly squelched.

Observations
...at Random.
This story is told on the 11th of December, the well-known preacher, and seven of his flock, who are often mistaken for their estimate of the character of strangers.
One day Rev. Green was on his way to the country to preach. His horse puffed easily along the dusty road, swaying up a dove head and there, almost sleeping, occasionally to pick his way through a gully, or increasing his pace as he went down the hill.
The reverend gentleman, who sat with bowed head thinking over what he was to say to the sinners that day, was shortly overtaken by a man he was about to pass, skirting the dusty road.
"What are the chances for a sinner?" he asked.
"Not in and welcome, sir, get right in!" replied the preacher, as he drew round. "Unless you find walking pretending disagreeable on a hot dusty day like this."
They rode on in silence. The man was a thick set, with a prominent nose and a small stream, he summoned up all the courage at his command and addressed the preacher. "My friend, are you prepared to meet your Maker?"
With a frightened look the stranger scrambled out and replied as he struck the ground and made off. "Not by a d-d night sir!" and he came non faltering back the steep embankment in his haste to get away.
The preacher in amazement saw him vanish down the road and then thoughtfully drove on. When he smiled frequently after that it was not of the thought of the things he would say to the sinners that day.

ROYALIST PLOT.
Papers Seized Showing the Seriousness of the Affair PARIS, Sept. 8.—The idea of flooding the house in the Rue de Valenciennes, where John Green and his followers are holed up against the police, has been abandoned. After a preparations had been completed it was found that the foundation of the building were insecure and the possibility of the water would cause its collapse.
New evidence has been discovered in the recently unearthed plot against the republic, which makes the charges against John Green and his colleagues much more serious.
Wholesale arrests are looked for at the conclusion of the Dreyfus trial.
The plot was well financed and well planned. New documents seized include a number of the Duke of Orleans autograph letters to Berolreille, which leave no doubt of the guilt of many high personages.
Most of the generals implicated in the Dreyfus affair were in the plot, as well as a number of republicans.
The Petit Republicain, the organ of M. Lannes and the government Republicans, publishes today parts of a part of the dossier of the coming document which it guarantees to be true before the senate high court.
It implicates the Duke of Orleans in a general strike of workmen and other labor troubles of the past and present year, intended to destroy the government by bringing troops.
The document is represented as a letter from the Duke, authorizing his representative, Buffet, to use 300,000 francs for this purpose. With this the document is intended to destroy the government by bringing troops.
The letter adds: "We have understandings, connivances and understandings, a workmen's union."

HORRORS OF THE KLONDIKE
Green's Stories Told by an Arrival From Copper River.
SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 8.—Otto Thews, of Princeton, Ill., who has arrived here from Copper River, Alaska, brings news confirming the reported deaths of seven members of the Scientific Prospecting company, of New York. The dead are Earlhardt, Miller, Alderman, Schultz, Peter Siegel, Butler and Baumgartner.
George Hooker, another member of the party, got out alive, but is badly crippled with scurvy, which carried away a majority of his com-pansions. Baumgartner was shot and killed and was never seen again.
The most affecting case was that of Butler, who was driven insane by his sufferings. His weak compansions had to strap him down, but they could not restrain him, the morning Thews, whose camp was near, found Butler sitting out in the snow, with his clothes and hat off. The thermometer was 15 degrees below zero. Butler was taken inside, but he died in a few hours.
The party was camped at Twelve Mile, just beyond Valdez River.
Thews also brings a gruesome story in connection with the finding of the remains of a jeweler named Smith, who perished last November on Valdez glacier. Every exposed portion of the body had been eaten away by ravens. The remains were identified as those of Smith by the clothing and effects found with them.
A purse containing $250 was among his effects. A prospector named Anderson, a partner of Smith, said a money belt which contained a sum of money was missing.
Thews said he had a close call crossing the glacier. He fell into a crevasse 1000 feet from the top, but the pack on his back caught him and held him until his companions could come to his rescue.

LITERARY CHAT.
IN THE CITY.
Sudden amid the snow and rain,
I know not how, I know not why,
A time unfolds within my brain,
And all the world is at my feet.
A trumpet sounds, a trumpet sounds,
And difficulties dance in the air.
Through these fair pictures fit and flash
Upon the city's background dim.
Women are true and men are good,
Oncord sleeps at the heart of strife,
How sweet is human brotherhood,
And all the common daily life!
—L. Wang, in Lippincott's.
The National Magazine is always certain to please the reader. Its variety of choice matter, by first class writers assures this. For September it offers some choice reading.
Efficiency and the Naval Republic is of interest to everyone. "The Naval Academy—New and Old," is good as well. Many bright studies and pretty poems fill its pages each month. A special offer has been made of twenty-five cents for the magazine until January 1, 1900.
The Saturday Evening Post of September 9, will publish an article entitled, "New York Under Ten Years Rule," by Frank Moss, counsel for the Mazer investigating committee.
Those desiring light upon this interesting theme have here a golden opportunity.
We speak frankly when we say that in our opinion "The Duchess of Sina" in the September Lippincott's is a story of only passing interest. We do not altogether like the tone of its expression at times, believe it unsuited for and harsh. Aside from this it can claim no especial merit.
We have a rich store in our own country's history for good stories. Why is it that so many of our modern writers seek remote spots about which to write? "The Duchess of Sina" treats of a country far distant, and of a period in that country's history so obscure that many people are ignorant of the conditions and surroundings.
"A Stranger in England," is the title of a well-written article, with quaint illustrations, by Elizabeth Ward Neville, in the September issue of the current month. One notes a marked improvement in this journal.
Its pages this month are bright with all that goes to make a good and up-to-date magazine.
Mark Twain, in an article in Harper's Magazine, speaks in rather glowing terms of the Jew and his great points. And he speaks truly.
No one, not even his greatest enemy will say that the Jew is an inferior. Further than this who of us have ever seen a Jew beggar?
They could teach other people some lessons in charity; they do not let their infirmities starve to death.
Let those of his enemies contemplate these and many other traits of his character.

THE FATE OF THE DUCHESSE.
The fate and tragic ending of President Garfield's life, in some respects, at least, reminds one forcibly of our other martyr-president. In the second paper on "Garfield, the Man of the People," in the Saturday Evening Post of September 23, John J. Ingalls depicts a pathetic picture.
Major J. B. Pond writes entertainingly of famous women he has known and their peculiarities. One finds much good reading in this issue.
No one should have cause to complain of the September issue of the Ladies' Home Journal. It seems to have scored a point more in its advance. "The Wayside Inn of Sud-bury Town," should have an interest for everyone, an entertaining and Longfellow told its tales. "The East Side Girl in New York," "The Confessions of a Worrier," "Dramatic Performances by Amateurs," are some of the many interesting themes that go toward filling its pages.
The fact that "David Harum" still outsells all other publications of its class, speaks well for its class.
This fact does not necessarily imply that it is a bad, as is the case with some of our popular novels. This is a novel above that particular class, and deserves its popularity.
The publication of Gen. Booth's "Through Darkest England," several months ago, gave currency to the striking phrase, "the submerged tenth," says the Youth's Companion of September 7. "It will not do to construe the phrase too strictly, but certainly it expresses a gruesome and ominous fact. At the bottom of our social structure there is a stratium of the bad." This term is used here not in the sense of moral reprobation, but in the sense in which it is used, for example, of earwigs that come from the muds defective. In this sense no one will question the statement that a certain stratum of humanity is bad. It is composed of the imbecile, the incompetent, the vicious and criminal. It is found in all our great cities, but it is found also in the smaller towns, and even in the country. It is a sort of rubbish heap; and it is the perpetual accompaniment and foil of our fair civilization." Such a problem; how to reduce this class of humanity, is one of the deepest questions of the hour.

We must make room for fall goods, so have decided for the next thirty days to sell goods at our own price. This is no advertising dodge, but a bona fide sale. If you need a new white or black sailor for early fall wear, or one of those new felt hats that are now so popular, come in, and we will astonish you with low prices at THE BAZAAR.

DON'T MISTAKE THE PLACE

FIXING FOR FALL

Change the complexion of the store, bringing fresh, new lots of merchandise to the front as fast as they arrive; changing a selling policy for the new season that will make this the most satisfactory season in the store's history. Not all the new things can we show you at once, but enough to assure you that we are wide awake to your autumn needs.

There's a new string to the fiddle and it's going to emit some very catchy price music from now on.

Nobby Dress Goods

The beginning of the dress goods season brings many of our public to investigate the new styles. There's much early buying, too; hence we always make it a point to be among the first in the field.

This week we are showing new Goff suitings for 1.60 to 2.00 a yard, which you will find to be under current prices.

Bright new all-wool scratch plaids for 60c and 65c a yard, that you may pay a dollar for.

New chevrons, mercerized novelties and granite cloth, Rayette and Taverne cords, and the staple berberes and serges for all-the-year-around wear.

Our Black Crepons

More popular than ever, better prepared than ever to meet the demand for these rich, glossy, bulged materials. We've been for months selecting the choice patterns from different importers' stocks, and now they are arriving. We want your patronage, provided we merit the patronage; and while we have no doubt of this, we will respect your opinion if your strong attachment for some other firm leads you to think differently. We understand these things, and do not condemn you, but would like to have you, for a customer, and assure you it is our fixed policy never to charge a customer all we could get for goods, but, on the other hand, to sell them low as on advertising but for future trade. We hardly think you will find crepons that will equal ours at 1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 1.75 and 2.00.

For School Dresses

This week we offer an excellent assortment of new plaids and neat mixtures for school gowns. These are all at very modest cost, and just suited for the fall school wear.

Lot 1 is an assortment of checks in pretty colorings that are not all wool, but look very much like it, and will wear and bear more hard knocks than the more expensive sorts. Per yard, 12 1/2c.

Lot 2 is a job of all-wool checks and mixtures, carried from last winter, that we sold at 25c to 40c a yard. We could not buy them for less than 20c in 30c now, but as they are last year's goods we have decided to make school dress offerings of the lot at 15c per yard.

Lot 3 is an assortment of pretty new camel's hair checks and small plaids, 36 inches wide and in such popular favor that the mills are away behind in filling orders. Price per yard, 25c.

Remnant
of Amoskeag apron gingham, worth 7c, for 5c per yard.

Remnants Canton Flannels
Two 100 lots of 10-yard lengths of Lawrence cotton flannel, the best brand on the market, big values.

First lot, each 10-yard piece for 50c.
Second lot, each 10-yard piece for 75c.

Clothing Department

(On second floor)
It costs us less to buy and sell clothing, furnishing goods and shoes than any house in the city.

When you need to buy next let us demonstrate to your entire satisfaction that we can and will save you 10 to 25 per cent.

We have just opened a line of boys' school pants made from mill-end goods to sell at 25c, 35c and 50c—some of them worth fully double.

"A MAN OF MYSTERY"

Coming to the Opera House Next Wednesday Night.

There is always a desire to see a really good melodrama, and, according to the critics of other cities, the best melodrama of the decade will be seen at Morton's opera house on next Wednesday evening. It is entitled "A Man of Mystery," and its name well describes it. There is a desperate criminal known to the police as the "Shadow," who is recognized in so many as a highly respectable young man, the nephew of a physician of distinction. The "Shadow" plans to rob his uncle's house with several confederates. He is caught by the doctor, transporting with the safe at midnight, but makes some excuse, and then hypnotizes the uncle, compelling him to open the safe himself. It is a daring and novel employment of hypnotism influence on the stage, but is perfectly natural.

The first annual colored fair and association will be held at Paducah, Ky., Sept. 28-29, 1899. For all privileges see E. W. Brown, 915 North Ninth street.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

A bad man can be just as foolish over a good woman as a good woman over a bad man.

The more men that are devoted to the right sort of married women the better for mankind.

The biggest bully is as afraid of a woman as any other man, only he shouts so loud nobody knows it.

No matter how good a woman thinks a man is she couldn't believe it if she didn't think the devil was in him somewhere.

The reason we so seldom take off the masks we habitually wear is that when we do and get a look at our real selves in the glass it startles us most as much as our friends.—New York Press.

Weight of Lion.

Ask any acquaintance how much a lion weighs, and see what he will say. Those who know the look of the king of beasts best, and how small his little body really is, will probably come furthest from the truth. About 300 pounds to 350 pounds is the usual estimate. But this is below the mark. A full grown lion will tip the scale at no less than 500 pounds. Five hundred and forty pounds is the record for an African lion. His bone is solid and heavy as ivory. The tiger runs the lion very close. A Bengal tiger, killed ten years ago by a British officer, weighed 520 pounds. A tiger of this size has, however, considerably more muscular strength than the biggest lion.

A Narrow shave for Johnny.

Mrs. Brown—"I'm so glad the doctor says you won't lose your eyesight, but you shouldn't have said I was the cause of the explosion." Little Johnny—"But you were, ma. If you hadn't come sneaking round the corner to see I was smoking I shouldn't have shoved the lighted cigarette end into my pocket with the Chinese crackers."—Spare Moments.

A NEW FUEL.

A Substitute for Coal Produced at Baku.

A contributor to the Pall Mall Magazine describes a new fuel produced in Russia. He says: "In appearance asphalt, a product of the oil wells of Baku, is a dark, viscous fluid not more inflammable than vegetable oil, and less so than coal. As a steam-producer it has no rival, and the demand for this purpose is constantly on the increase. Nothing else is burned on railways in Central Asia, the Caucasus and Southern Russia, on the Black sea, Caspian and river steamers, and in the innumerable industrial works which are springing into existence on the Azov littoral. In the railways which employ this substitute for coal, local tenderers are not pried high with asphalt tanks, which is filled by pumping or the force of gravity. Numerous are the systems of feeding furnaces with asphalt; and, indeed, every engineer has his own pet apparatus. The principle of all is that of the Root's blower. A current of steam, or preferably air, carrying with it the fuel in minute subdivision, is forced at high pressure through a nozzle, called a 'pulverizer,' into the tubular interior of the boiler. To be heated. The result is an intensely white, roaring flame, and in pulverizers of the latest type the value of asphalt as compared with coal on a steam-raiser, is as 2 1/2 to 1. The former sells at Baku at $2.50 per ton, and when the pipeline connecting that place with Batoum is complete, asphalt will be delivered at the steamer's side at something like $1. At the latter price coal will clearly be unable to compete with its youthful rival. Nor do the advantages of asphalt end with its cheapness. Engines burning it require no army of stokers, for all that is necessary in the largest is for a man to regulate the supply by taps. There is no smoke, litter or dust. Many a passenger by ocean steamer will bless the day when asphalt shall supplant coal, and the stokers who are roasted alive in tropical waters will have greater reason to be thankful for the revolution.

A GOOD PERFORMANCE.

There was a good crowd at Morton's opera house last night to see Ruseo, Pringle and Holland's colored minstrel. The colored people completely filled the gallery. The performance was equal to the standard so long maintained by this company. The singing was good, the specialties new and well arranged, and every feature was worth seeing. Billy Keranda the renowned was as popular as ever, but there is a man in the company destined to soon outshine him. This is John Rucker, the original Alabama Blossom, who is a better comedian and has a bigger mouth than Keranda. He is an excellent monologist.
